

ALIED ACUPUNCTURE COURSES – BOOKING CONDITIONS

ALL COURSES

- ALIED seeks to provide excellent, stimulating Acupuncture courses at competitive rates and seeks the help and cooperation of all students and course organisers in meeting some simple conditions.
- All students must have appropriate professional indemnity insurance for the use of Acupuncture within their scope of practice.
 - In the case of Physiotherapists working within their scope of practice as defined by the Chartered Society of Physiotherapy [CSP], insurance requirements will be satisfied by membership of the CSP. In the case of Acupuncturists working within their scope of practice as defined by the British Acupuncture Council [BAcC], insurance requirements will be satisfied by membership of the BAcC. Students who may be working outside the accepted scope of practice of their profession may not be covered by insurance and should take advice from their respective professional body.
 - Students who are not CSP or BAcC members must confirm in writing that they do hold appropriate professional indemnity insurance and that they are working within their scope of practice when practising Acupuncture.
- All students must complete the medical screening form in which they indicate any factors that may affect their suitability to receive acupuncture needling. This form must be received by ALIED before the course start date. The form will be kept confidential by ALIED and is to ensure the safety of all students on ALIED Courses.
- Foundation Acupuncture courses involve all students receiving significant amounts of needling during the course and, although there is no evidence that properly directed Acupuncture is harmful during pregnancy, ALIED takes the view that the health of the foetus is paramount.
 - Students who may be pregnant, or who are actively trying to become pregnant, SHOULD NOT ATTEND the Foundation Acupuncture Course.
 - Students who may be pregnant, or who are actively trying to become pregnant may attend other Acupuncture courses, but should make sure that the tutor is aware of their condition.
